As the name suggests this system simply means you bet on teams to finish the match with an even amount of goals scored.

You can use this little system in the Australian summer football leagues or any league that takes your fancy.

This is a very simple system that uses the law of averages to predict that a game will finish

1-1, 2-2, 2-0, 0-2, 3-1, 1-3, 3-3, 4-0, 0-4, 4-2, 2-4 etc

Do not use this system in the first 3 weeks of any season, wait for 3 weeks and use <http://1x2stats.com/> to find an odd amount of goals in all of any teams last 3 games, so non of the scores above can be in their last 3 games.

Do not use this system for teams currently in the top or bottom 3 of the league you are looking at, they will have less chance of an even amount of goals.

You need to find a team with all of their last 3 games on the field they are playing having an odd amount of goals scored, All you need to do is use a decent bookmaker like Ladbrokes to bet on the their next game having an even amount of goals.

Check with both and place your bet with the best odds, the odds must be at 1.9 or 9/10.

Now comes the clever part.

It doesn't matter if you lose this bet, simply multiply your stake (amount you bet) by 2.2 every time if you are on a losing streak, so if you were to bet £100 on an even amount of goals in a match chosen with this system, say you lose - bet £220 the second time on this team, if you lose again - bet £484. Eventually the team will have an even amount of goals (maximum 6 games after original bet for all English teams last season 2004/2005) and you will have made a tidy profit.

As soon as the team you have chosen has had a game with an even amount of goals scored then do not bet on this team again this season.

So you can win money whatever happens, start it 3 weeks from the beginning of the season and bet on every team that has had an odd amount of goals in their last 3 matches. Look for these scores in all of their last 3 games...

1-0, 0-1, 2-1, 1-2, 3-0, 0-3, 3-2, 2-3, 4-1, 1-4, 4-3, 3-4

If you lose the first bet simply multiply your stakes by 2.2 after every loss and eventually your team must have a game that finishes with an even amount of goals.

The odds are hugely in your favour.

Do not start this system on a team 6 games or less from the end of the season.

Choose a team that has had 3 previous games with an odd number of goals in and back this team at 1.9 to have an even number of goals in their next game.

If they don't simply multiply your stakes by 2.2 every time you lose and keep backing the team to have an even amount of goals in every following game they play, it will happen between 1 and 6 games after you have started the system and you will profit. Then stop using that team for the system.

You need a relatively large betting bank for this system, around 20 times your original stake on the team, but statistically if you follow the system it is impossible to lose. In fact during the whole of last season the most you would have ever had to bet would have been 20x your original stake!

Hope you like this simple system. Enjoy It!!!!
